Don't go

Happy mother's day A short Mericcup fic I hope you like and sorry for not updating on my other stories

>He looks at her as her spirit fading , her breathing slowing down although he couldn't say anything his eyes never left her as he held tighter to the dying redhead. Her red curls close to his hands his tears were dripping onto her face.

She couldn't go like this not after all they have been through , the fight they fought, walls they destroy, minds they have change. They were almost there to free and live their love but, a war broke out thus leading to this. He close his eyes and as he did that he only saw her in the midst of the war help both sides defending the weak, her red wild mane flowing in pride her blue intense eyes in focus as she swing her sword. He couldn't bear to think that they cause this as she fought vikings and some of her own men never killing them for she was too kind to do so. That was and is her fatal mistake because that man she spare ,when she turn her back ran at full charge and slice her through her back, his heart stop at that moment as he saw her fall to the ground he felt helpless as he was pull back unable to help her.
>He broke out running towards her
Her blood spills out at his hands , he didn't care as he cried onto her chest feeling pain.

>"Do-on't you dare leave me" he cried as she gasps for air her eyes, losing color ,her skin turning pale. The world around them seem lost and forgotten he cried again and yell in pain thus bringing us to the present moment.

She open her eyes and smile with love at him reaching her hand to his cheek he was quick to bring her close to him, no words were needed but, she open her mouth to say something to her lover, her life

>" Seems what we work for end up in this" She chuckled "To think that they couldn't take us in Hiccup" She coughs
"Don't say that we WILL make it... Hold on.." He cried " Don't leave .. don't leave" she looks at him
>"I don't think I will make it.." Her voice drains
"Yes you will" He beg her she smile at him knowing that this will be the last time she will ever see him so she took every minute she had
>"I love you" She said as her breath grew short and each heartbeat seem harder to beat she close her eyes ignoring his protests she was too tired to keep them open.. The last words she heard were "I love yo..."
He stay there with her cold body in his hands
>She was gone simply gone
His eyes overbearing with tears as he held on to her cold body kissing her begging someone to help her

>But, they can't... It seem like a cruel joke that her death was due to an disagreement between two allies. He wanted her back, he wanted revenge for her death .

He hear her voice fresh in his mind then he couldn't take it any more, it was unfair that she was gone along with her laugh

Her carefree spirit

Her songs and voice

Her wild hair and caring eyes

Her love

Her worries

That she didn't live long enough to become a mom

Or that she died before she git the chance to grow old with him

He stay there for hours heat broken just by her side feeling her blood onto his hands her hands still onto his cheeks he died for him he took out a knife and join her too..

>...

"Hiccup?"

"Merida!"

End
file.
